Rodney Anderson, CTIP celebrated as recipient of 2025 James H. Garst President's Award

The Texas Land Title Association (TLTA), one of the state's oldest trade associations, presented Rodney Anderson, CTIP, EVP and National Agency Manager for Alliant National Title Insurance Company, with the esteemed James H. Garst President's Award during TLTA's 2025 Annual Conference and Business Meeting in Nashville. This distinguished recognition honors individuals who go above and beyond in their service to the association during the TLTA President's year in office.

Anderson, who served as TLTA President in 2023-2024, was recognized by 2024-2025 TLTA President Claire Hartman, CTIP for his steadfast guidance and leadership throughout her term. From the moment she accepted the call to serve, Anderson became a trusted confidant—offering encouragement, sharing his institutional knowledge, and helping her navigate the responsibilities of the role with confidence and clarity during a particularly complex year for the industry and association.

In presenting the award, Hartman shared her deep gratitude for Anderson's mentorship and example. "Thank you" didn't seem like enough, she noted, but this award represents the depth of her appreciation and TLTA's admiration for his service.
